What is Science of Mind (SOM)?

Science of Mind® (also referred to as Religious Science) is the core teaching of Centers for Spiritual Living. Science of Mind is a philosophy that integrates spiritual truths with science and physics. Simply put, Science of Mind teaches the unity of all life. Intentions and ideas flow through a field of consciousness, which actually affects and creates the world around us. This idea is common to most major religions and is supported by the teachings of psychology and quantum physics. In Science of Mind, we believe that the secret to living a successful life is to consciously choose positive and productive thoughts.

Are Science of Mind and Religious Science the same?

Religious Science is the name of the church that Dr. Ernest Holmes started, which was the precursor to Centers for Spiritual Living. Dr. Holmes' comprehensive book of teachings is entitled The Science of Mind. Members of Centers for Spiritual Living often use the phrases Science of Mind and Religious Science interchangeably.

Who was Ernest Holmes?

Dr. Ernest Holmes founded the spiritual movement that started Centers for Spiritual Living. Born in 1887 on a small Maine farm, Dr. Holmes spent his teenage years outdoors, asking himself "What is God? Who am I? Why am I here?" This questioning led to his 1926 book, The Science of Mind, which outlined the foundational viewpoints of modern New Thought. To learn more about The Life of Ernest Holmes enjoy this very enlightening and comprehensive article on Dr. Holmes on the Archives' website.

What is an Archives?

Archives contain what is called Primary Source Material--original documents, records, manuscripts, photos, artifacts (objects such as furniture or personal belongings). These items are truly irreplaceable. This is why it is important to have proper archival quality storage systems to prevent deterioration of items (especially photos and film). This is also why it is important for an archive to scan and digitize as much of the material as possible so it can be preserved electronically and available forever.
